Little Scientists' Privacy Policy

'Little Scientists' is an initiative of FROEBEL Australia Limited. At 'Little Scientists', we are committed to protecting the safety and security of the personal information provided to us. Please read this Privacy Policy carefully in order to understand how any personal information collected by us is used.

By registering to sponsor 'Little Scientists', attend a workshop, become a Local Network or apply for certification, or for any other reason that you provide us with your personal information you agree to our using your personal information in accordance with this Privacy Policy. If you do not provide your personal information to us, we may not be able to process your involvement with the 'Little Scientists' initiative.

We comply with the terms of the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) when handling your personal information.

How we collect your personal information

We primarily collect your personal information directly from you through correspondence that we engage in with you, for example, online forms, workshop participation forms, telephone conversations and emails. We will only collect information about you from third parties in rare circumstances, for example, if a representative of your Local Network passes your application information to us to enrol you in a trainer workshop.

The kinds of personal information we hold about you

We only hold information about you if it is relevant to your participation with the 'Little Scientists' initiative.

Generally, information we hold will include your name, contact details, job title, education and care service centre details, payment details, account number, records of correspondence, records of workshop attendance and billing statements.

We do not hold sensitive information about you such as information about your race or ethnic origins, political or religious beliefs or health.

How we hold your personal information

Depending on the circumstances, we may hold your information either in hard copy or electronic form, or both. Generally, we keep hard copies of all correspondence that we enter into and maintain details about participants in an electronic database.

We hold all hard copy and electronic records of personal information in a secure manner to ensure that they are protected from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. Our employees and agents are obliged to treat any personal information confidentially.

Our staff follow strict information handling procedures and only those whose tasks require use of your information are able to access it. We delete your personal information in a secure manner once it is no longer needed or required to be kept by law.

Our security measures are designed to prevent your personal information being accessed by unauthorised personnel, lost or misused. If you reasonably believe that there has been an unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal information, please let us know by contacting our Privacy Officer (contact details below).

How we use your personal information

We use your personal information:

- to register you or your organisation as a Local Network partner;
- to register you for workshops;
- to process your application for certification of your education and care service centre;
- to process your sponsorship details;
- to administer our relationship with you;
- for internal purposes such as procedural assessments, risk management, staff training, accounting, billing and product and service reviews; and
- to identify, and inform you of, other products or services that may be of interest to you. However, you can withdraw your consent to our using your personal information in this way at any time by contacting our Privacy Officer (contact details below)
- to invite you to participate in research relating to the ‘Little Scientists’ initiative either directly or through research institutions that we have a direct relationship with.

How we disclose your personal information

We only disclose your personal information in very limited circumstances.

We may disclose your personal information to third party organisations that provide us with professional advice, such as solicitors and accountants, and to contractors to whom we outsource functions, such as mailing houses, electronic network administrators or debt collection agencies.

We may also disclose your personal information to interested research institutions, who may invite you to participate in research relating to the ‘Little Scientists’ initiative. You have the opportunity to provide consent or decline consent to participate in any such research. Where possible, we take contractual and other measures to ensure any third parties comply with the privacy standards set out in the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth).

We may also disclose personal information where that will not result in a breach of the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth), for example, where it is with your consent or where we are legally required to do so, such as under a court order or taxation laws.

Your right of access

You may request access to your personal information at any time by sending a written request to our Privacy Officer (contact details below). In your request, please state how you would like to obtain access. For example, you may like to inspect our records at our premises or you may prefer to be sent a photocopy or an electronic version of your information. You do not need to provide a reason for your request and you will not be charged any fees for obtaining access.

In rare circumstances, and only where it is permitted under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth), we may not be able to provide you with access to your information, for example, where it will have an unreasonable impact upon the privacy of others, where it relates to legal proceedings between us through which the information would not otherwise be available, where it would be prejudicial to negotiations we are holding with you, where we are required by law to withhold the information or where it would reveal information relating to our commercially sensitive decision making processes.

If we refuse access, we will provide you with a written notice stating our reasons for refusing access.

You may correct your personal information

If your personal information is out-of-date or incorrect, you may request that it be corrected. We are not obliged to correct any of your personal information if we do not agree that it requires correction and we may refuse to do so. If we refuse a correction request, we will provide you with a written notice stating our reasons for refusing.

Cookies

A cookie is a little piece of information handed to a web browser from a web server that contains information that can be retrieved from the server later. When you visit our website, the server may attach a cookie to your computer's memory.

Our website does not store or capture personal information, other than logging the user's IP address and session information such as the duration of the visit and type of browser used. This information is automatically recognised by the web server and is only used for system administration and monitoring website traffic. We do not use cookies for collecting user information from the site.

We may need to change our privacy policy from time to time

We may need to change our privacy policy from time to time. If we do, we will publish the changes on our website. Any actions that we have taken before the change will continue to be regulated by the privacy policy that existed before the changes were made.

Your right to lodge a complaint

If you are not satisfied with how we have handled your personal information, you may lodge a complaint in writing with our Privacy Officer (contact details below). We will inform you of who will handle your complaint and you may contact our Privacy Officer to enquire about its progress at any time.

Further information

We are happy to provide you with further information regarding the personal information that we hold about you. If you have any queries or requests in this respect, please contact our Privacy Officer at privacy@littlescientists.org.au or by telephone on (02) 8080 0065.
